- 5. Of the men, 25 percent belong to the class of 1929, 40 percent to the class of 1930 and 40 percent to the class of 1931. Eighty percent of the men some from west Hungary, 20 percent from Budapest and neighborhood. The reservists trained during the summer belonged to the classes 1922 to 1926.
- 6. Discipline is good and very strict. Relations between men and NCOs are tetter than between men and officers. In general it can be said that the officers are much more reliable Communists than those under them, having been submitted to a severe purging process. The men take the propaganda very passively. The food is good and adequate. The uniforms are of good material and in plenty of quantity.
